

So there I stood, looking up at the ladder. As my friends climbed the ladder swayed. as they got higher I felt I had to do better. Suddenly it was my turn, I stepped up one, two, three go I jumped on to the first log.

It was hard and when I got higher it got harder. I climbed to the fourth log and Katie needed some help [she was my partner]. I grabbed her hand and pulled, she climbed the rest.

Suddenly I looked down, my heart stopped and my legs turned to jelly, I kept hearing screams in my head. I got to the fifth log but I couldn't get to the sixth one - it was too high I jumped, suddenly I slipped aaahhh damn, I fell. Luckily I had a harness on and it felt like I was flying. Even though I fell I was still very proud.

After I got back to the ground I felt very proud. I never thought I would have got that high it was a big achievement for me.
