

Week 8 /5/17

Shackleton Class Highlights:

This week we have continued learning about what makes us unique and how different situations and experiences can cause us to have very different emotions. We enjoyed creating our own Lego minifigure heads to show different emotions like happiness, sadness, boredom and excitement.

In maths we have continued our work on 1-1 correspondence and reading and writing numbers to 20,50 and 100.

We've used the phonics videos and activities on Espresso to re visit sounds and letter formation.

We've continued to enjoy our 'Go Noodle' and Cosmic Kids dance, yoga and mindfulness sessions.

We have done lots of reading for pleasure this week. Each day we have selected a new book to share with the group and some of us have enjoyed being the 'storyteller' and reading to others. Our favourites this week have been 'Hairy McLary' 'Come away from the water Shirley' 'Room on the Broom' and 'A Squash and a Squeeze'.

We also set up our own photography studio on Wednesday. We took pictures of each other dressed as different characters and selected the best ones to be printed. We then wrote our own captions for the photos describing what we looked like and how we felt in each pose.

Talk about

Continue to read for pleasure as much as you can. Maybe you could retell some of the stories we've enjoyed this week or make up your own story in the style of Hairy McLary or the Julia Donaldson books.

Continue to develop your counting skills. Ask someone at home to give you a starting number and see if you can continue counting on from it in 1's. Can you count backwards from a given number too?
